ABOUT US

At Colorverse, we believe that art is meant to be felt, not just seen. Our founding principle is simple: to remove the technical constraints that stand between the artist and their ultimate creation.

This vision is driven by our lead artist and creative visionary, Ken Tan. Despite a celebrated career working on major commissions for global brands, Ken recognized that traditional art forms often create "physical blockages" that limit spontaneous flow.

Colorverse was born from his commitment to work smarter—embracing the precision of 3D printing (Additive Manufacturing) to build structural foundations for art.
